

SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

So far as this particular area is concerned, the Winter Sports season is over and while there may be some regrets that the weather was so unusually disagreeable and hampered the program materially, on a whole it was not a bad year for snow enthusiasts and the Washington Birthday week end offered evidence of what can be anticipated if we have a break with the elements.

The Truckee High school, we feel, was fortunate in getting even a tie for third place in the CIF meet at Tahoe last week end. In the first place only two students represented the school. There were no rooters and little interest in whether they won or lost. The boys, in spite of the lack of cooperation, placed in enough events to gain a tie for third place with McCloud. These two youngsters, Bob Bowers and Frank Titus are to be congratulated.

And while we are bidding farewell to the Winter Sports, it might be well to recall that those lads up at Tahoe have certainly been going places this year. From the ace A class jumpers to the novice skiers the Tahoe Ski Club has earned an enviable reputation and have in so doing brought a lot of sport glory to the district. We wish them luck at Yosemite.

One of the best items of news we can report this week is the fact that Truckee is soon to have a new fire truck. The commissioners have been busy clearing the deck of legal complications and now announce the actual purchase. Truckee residents should be grateful for this action. With our excellent fire department and the new apparatus, our fears of fire should be minimized.

SCHOOL BOARD TO DISCUSS FINANCES AT MEET TONIGHT

A meeting of the board of trustees of the Meadow Lake Union high school will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the school for the purpose of discussing the financial status of the school and to take up other matters of importance. Anyone interested in the school program is invited to attend.

POWERLINE BUILT TO BOCA PROJECT

A powerline has been constructed to the site of the Boca dam in anticipation of the actual construction work which is expected to commence within two weeks.

Several carloads of equipment for the work on the storage reservoir on the Little Truckee river are being delivered to the location.

FRED WILLIAMS DIES FOLLOWING ILLNESS

Fred Williams, 40, a resident of Truckee, died at the Nevada county hospital in Nevada City on Friday, according to word received here. He had been a patient at the hospital for about three weeks.

Williams, a native of Nebraska, was not known to have any living relatives.

Observation Of Conservation Week Throughout Year Urged by Ranger

By GARTH FLINT
(Assistant Ranger, Tahoe National Forest)

Governor Frank F. Merriam has set aside March 7-14 as California's third Conservation Week. Individuals and organizations are united in a campaign of education to bring about a better understanding of the object of conservation with a view toward increased practice of it. Special programs are being carried out in the public schools, civic and commercial clubs, associations and women's and youths' organizations, in cooperation with six Federal and seven State public agencies connected with conservation. The slogan for the year is: "Practice Conservation Every Day."

Perhaps the greatest single object of conservation is the prevention of forest fires. There are few of us who are not aware of the annual havoc wrought by fires, but do we all know that 90 per cent of them are man-caused, either by malicious intent or by equally inexcusable carelessness and negligence?

Last year 4900 forest and brush fires ran uncontrolled over 470,000 acres in California alone. Losses of nearly two million dollars suffered by unfortunate property owners and several human lives, to say nothing of priceless watershed and recreational values, contributed to this appalling monument of carelessness of mankind.

Annually many fine trout streams are completely ruined, their fish

Dangers Of Cut In Fish Budget At Capitol Cited By Association

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 11.—Many sportsmen-conservationists are not yet awakened to the dangers of the proposed $1,300,000 cut in the fish and game budget as incorporated in the general budget bill, Assembly Bill 500, according to the statewide Fish and Game Development association, which recently called attention to the proposed cut, which would put more than a million and a quarter dollars of the fish and game fund in a position where they might be "frozen" or even diverted.

Assemblyman Gordon H. Garland of Woodlake, member of the Ways and Means committee, will make a fight for release of these funds to fish and game conservation work. In discussing this position on the budget bill, he declared:

OUR GOLDEN GOAL

No more, now that better times have returned, do we hear the phrases that lay bare the bitter core of such a phenomenon as "depression" in a world so capable of producing an over-abundance of everything. Such words as "starvation amid plenty", or "breadless knee-deep in wheat" no longer sprinkle the pages of newspapers.

Yet today, economists told us recently, a majority of the American people are living on second and third class diets—are not getting food enough, or food of good quality.

The tragedy of this revelation is all too apparent. Not quite so obvious, however, is the promise this fact whispers of a new day dawning in the not too distant future. It emphasizes something we are all prone to forget; namely that markets are not glutted, that demand is not satiated, and that the American standard of living has never approached what it someday will be.

If everyone lived on a first class diet of food in proper quantities, business would soar some threefold to fourfold in lines engaged in that gigantic task of feeding America. If everyone had even the minimum in the way of modern comforts and conveniences, business in all lines would swell to many times its present level.

Reminders of this sort from time to time are valuable, lest we tire of the incessant struggle and endless discussion of tedious efforts to adjust our economic structure. We must remember that all the machinery is there, and that by fitting it together properly we can boost the American standard of living beyond anything you ever conceived in your fondest dreams.

EMPTYING THE GRAB BAG

If you are an average person, government spent $142 of your money last year. If you are head of a family of four that means $568 of your earnings went for taxes.

The total cost of government, according to the Commentator, was close to $18,000,000,000 in 1936. That represents a cost of almost $1,500,000,000 a month; $500,000,000 a day. Sundays and holidays included, and $4,000 an hour.

These are staggering figures—and another comparison made by the Commentator is also staggering. In 1913, the national income was $343 per capita, and the total governmental debt, federal, state and local, was only one-sixth as much, $59.29.

In 1936, our national income was $469 per capita—and total government debt $422!

The American people are burdened with a debt of incalculable size. They are faced with taxes that can only be described by the word confiscatory. And still they permit the politicians to spend extravagantly—while they too often scramble for their part of the bounty like islanders diving for coins.

Is it possible that we will not awaken until the grab-bag is empty?

1936'S CASUALTY LIST

The National Safety Council reports that during 1936 accidents killed 111,000 persons in the United States, and caused an economic loss totalling $3,750,000,000. Both figures represent all-time high records.

In addition to the fatalities, about 400,000 persons were permanently disabled by accidents, and 10,300,000 temporarily disabled.

Accidents rose in every field. Home accidents took 39,000 lives—24 per cent more than in 1935. Occupational accidental deaths rose 9 per cent, to 18,000. Miscellaneous public accidents not involving automobiles, rose 6 per cent, and killed 19,000.

Worst of all was the toll of automobiles. While the percentage rise was smaller than in most classifications, 4 per cent, fatalities reached the ghastly total of 38,500.

It is encouraging that plans for 1937 in most states involve material increases in safety work of all kinds. Perhaps we are beginning to learn something from our horrible past death tolls—and are at last on the road that leads toward general accident prevention.

Spring Floods

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 11.—(UP)—California's legislature got away to its proverbial slow start with committee chairmen having difficulty assembling quorums and members generally showing no serious desire to speed the organization procedures.

Springlike weather attracted so many to the outdoors that afternoon committee meeting were poorly attended. Night activities also kept the members away from later sessions.

Leaders of both houses admitted it would take at least two weeks to swing the machinery into action on the heap of nearly 4,000 bills which must be decided by summer. And it was conceded by all that most of the final action bills would, as usual, be taken during the last two weeks of the session.

Any hope of pushing special appropriation bills through ahead of the $446,000,000 budget faded with the announcement of Gov. Frank F. Merriam that he would not approve any such bills unless a real emergency was involved.

Unless the budget bill has been passed, legislators cannot take final action on extra appropriation bills without specific permission from the governor.

A desire to hurry things along was expressed by Assemblyman Ralph L. Welch, chairman of the ways and means committee, who planned to have his committee handle as many appropriation bills as possible, sending them to the floor to await action after adoption of the budget, possibly by April 1.

One of the first important pieces of business confronting the lawmakers was a hearing on a resolution asking the ouster of Judge Gavin

W. Craig, now serving a year's sentence in the Ventura county jail for conspiring to obstruct justice in the Italo Petroleum case.

The first controversial subject to be considered by the lawmakers as they returned for the second half of their session was President Roosevelt's plan to increase the membership of the United States Supreme Court.

Resolutions supporting and opposing the plan were being offered by democrats and republicans, respectively, in both houses.

Members admitted final action on

The resolutions would mean practically nothing, since there was little chance of congress taking orders from the California legislature. But the partisan proposals gave lawmakers a chance to orate and to align themselves definitely on one side or the other. And since there were no bills ready for action, the legislators had to have something to argue about.

State officials, particularly those connected with the administration, frankly were worried about the relief situation, in view of the reports that WPA activities may be curtailed and additional relief burdens unloaded upon the state.

15,240 WORKERS IN STATE GETS JOBS IN EMPLOYMENT BODY

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 11.—Fifteen thousand two hundred and forty workers of the state were placed in employment by the California state employment service during the month of February, Director Roy S. Stockton reported here this week.

This is an increase of 46 per cent over placement activities of the service for the same month of 1936, he points out, and is a boost of 20 per cent from the totals of January, this year.

Reflecting a general improvement of business conditions throughout the state, Stockton said, the monthly compilations of the service's activities show also a decline of applications of unemployed workers amounting to 20 per cent for the month as compared with similar figures a year ago, and a decrease of 14.7 per cent from January, 1937, totals. The number of new applications received from workers visiting the offices for the first time, the report shows, were 21,221 for February.

The Tahoe grammar school will open Monday, March 22. Mrs. Phillip Gallinger, the teacher is expected to return to Tahoe next week.

THE 60-horsepower Ford V-8 engine was first developed for Europe, where fuel costs are high. Two years' usage there proved its unusual economy.

When the "60" came to this country this year, the Ford Motor Company made no mileage claims—waited for facts, written on American roads by American drivers.

Now Ford "60" owners are reporting averages of 22 to 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline. That makes it the most economical Ford car ever built!

Best of all, the Ford "60" is just as big and roomy—just as handsome, sturdy and safe—as the famous 85-horsepower Ford V-8. And it sells at the lowest Ford price in years.

If you want a big car for a small budget—a car you can drive with pride and profit—see the thrifty "60" soon!

This Week At The State Capitol

By Jack Welter
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 11.—(UP)—Tom Mooney's world-famous fight for freedom from San Quentin Prison where he is serving a life term for the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing will provide California legislators action during the second week of their renewed session.

A resolution proposing a legislative pardon for the famed laborite, tideland oil, proposed investigation of California's power companies, a ruling declaring all skeleton bills introduced in both houses illegal and half a dozen other matters, topped by a sharp partisan division on President Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization program, highlighted the first week's session.

The Mooney resolution, which would undertake the release four governors refused to order, was introduced by Assemblyman Paul Richie, San Diego. Although legislators were not certain that if passed the measure could effect Mooney's release, it was given a good chance to gain lower house approval. A majority of the assembly's lawyers regarded the measure favorably.

It was pointed out that although the state constitution does not specifically empower the legislature to grant pardons, neither does it prohibit them from doing so.

Official expression of legislative sentiment on the supreme court issue turned out, in effect, to be no expression at all so far as the issue itself was concerned. It did, however, bowl over any impressions that strong partisan feeling does not exist in the legislature. After the democratic majority in the house had endorsed the program by a 41 to 31 vote, the senate, dominated by republicans, reversed the English voting 24 to 14 in favor of Senator Andrew Schottky's resolution memorializing congress to oppose any move to increase the number of court justices.

A ruling from Attorney General U. S. Webb, holding that "skeleton" bills as employed for the sake of expediency by legislators during the first part of the session—the introduction period—are illegal, brought a threat that hundreds of measures awaiting action would be outlawed.

The ruling, requested by Lieutenant Governor George J. Hatfield, foe of the abbreviated measures, drew criticism from Assembly Speaker William Moseley Jones, who believed Webb's interpretation too strict and that it might "outlaw much desirable legislation."

Partisan dissension on the supreme court issue wasn't the only place legislators didn't see eye to eye. Members of the senate interim committee investigating proposals for tideland oil drilling split three ways. Senator Culbert Olson recommended action conforming closely to Governor Frank F. Merriam's idea of private bids, with state drilling if private concerns refuse to provide the state a fair revenue. Senators Wagay and Hays and ex-senator Stow initiated a report favoring only limited drilling under private contract, opposed tideland drilling of any sort because "the voters have decided against it."

He Plays at Being Second Jonah

Little Charles Thompson looks inquiringly down the throat of a 17-pound rock cod, hooked at Santa Catalina Island and believed to be one of the biggest, if not the biggest rock cod, caught on the Coast this season. It looks almost big enough to swallow him, at that.

A resolution which would have an investigation into political activities and rate structures of power companies, with a view to possible state ownership of all utilities after 1939, was tabled by the assembly public utilities committee, at least for the time being.

Explaining that the Pacific Gas and Electric company holds important rights of way which must be acquired before Contra Costa Conduit of the Central Valley Water Project may be constructed, Thomas M. Carlson, California water authority attorney, urged the action. He feared, he said, it would antagonize P. G. & E. toward the vast power and irrigation plans. If the company "does not cooperate as promised," he said, then he will favor further consideration of the measure.

Organized labor, represented by the field marshal of the 1934 San Francisco general strike now secretary of the state federation of labor, Edward C. Vandeleur, moved into the legislative picture early. At Vandeleur's request, consideration of a bill by Ralph L. Walsh, D., Los Angeles, was halted temporarily. The bill would reduce the penalty for conspiracy to commit a crime to a maximum equal to that levied for commission of the crime itself. This, sponsors said, would be particularly beneficial to sit-down strikers, as in the Douglass Airplane plant strike, where although only a misdemeanor was committed, many were charged with conspiracy to commit a crime, a felony under the present law. Vandeleur said he wanted a chance to consider the measure more closely to be sure there wasn't a joker in the deck. It sounded almost too good.

Good Lighting starts with Proper Lamp Design

Better Lamp
for Better Light

Higher standard than the ordinary lamp. 19 1/2 inches from table top to bottom of shade.

What a difference under the shade! The diffusing bowl which eliminates both reflected and direct glare to give light that is soft and glareless.

The shade open at the top and wide at the bottom is the third reason why this revolutionary lamp gives six to ten times as much light as an ordinary lamp.

SEE that the lamps you buy for your home are designed to give you abundant light from proper height and distance so that it is easy for your eyes to see quickly and to read without effort.

Note the distinctive features of the Science of Seeing Study Lamp pictured above. They are the tall standard, the diffusing bowl and the special shade wide at the bottom to give much more useful light than ordinary lamps.

There should be at least one of these new lamps in every home. It helps good eyes to keep good eyesight and aids weakened eyes to see more easily.

east, California's relief problem is much more serious than that of most states, Administrator Harold E. Pomeroy pointed out. The state is spending $3,000,000 monthly on relief, and cannot stand any more of a burden.

Proposals to establish bordered patrols to halt penniless transients or turn back persons suffering from communicable diseases have drawn such a general storm of protest, particularly in Northern California, that state officials are reluctant to discuss the idea. The sentiment in Southern California, destination of most of the transients, reportedly is different.

Officials looked to Washington for a continuation of federal relief, fearful that any curtailment would increase the state load so much that the relief administration would go bankrupt. Despite improved business conditions, the state continued spending approximately as much for relief this year as it did in 1935 and 1936.

Relief workers believed that the transient problem was a matter of should advance more funds for relief in California. national, rather than state concern, and that the federal government

LEGISLATIVE SIDELIGHTS

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 11.—(UP)—Uniforms for lobbyists has been suggested, more or less facetiously, by legislators who figure the "third house" should be segregated and identified in such a manner that their mingling with regular members would not be encouraged so much.

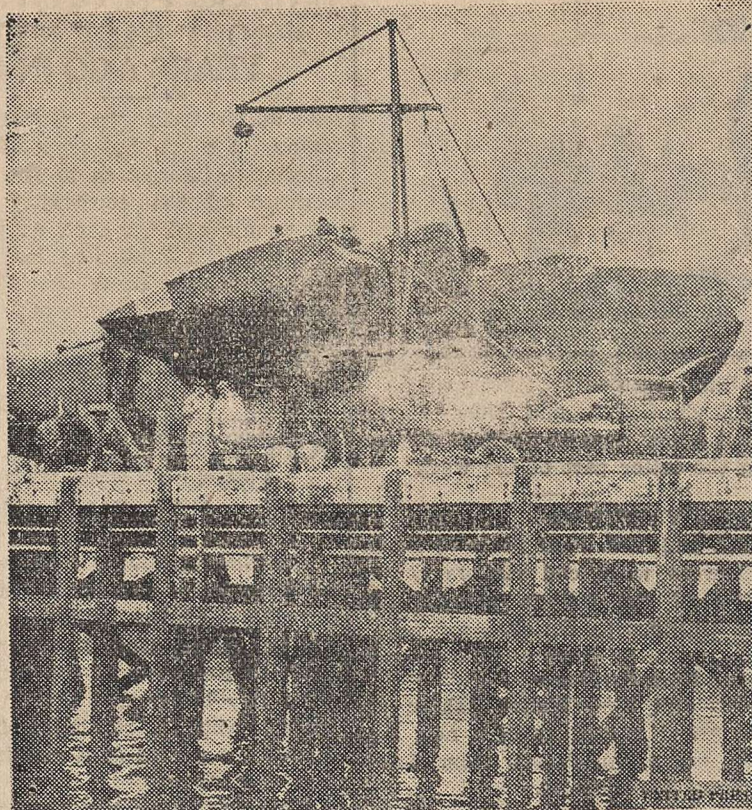

Should the proposal be adopted—nobody thought it would—lobbyists might be forced to wear costumes of insignia somewhat as follows: overalls and oil cans for railroad advocates; miniature turbines suspended from the necks of power company lobbyists; oil derrick hats for the oil people; liquor bottle lapel buttons for the liquor interests; large straw hats for the farm lobbyists; lunch pails for the labor advocates; cowbells for the dairy interests and steam whistles for the shipping people.

Assembly attaches were forced to swing into action the second half of the session without benefit of dance music.

During the five-week constitutional recess when the assembly chamber was empty except for those handling the details of preparing legislation for the second half, someone set up a radio and the attaches worked to the strains of popular music.

When the session reconvened, however, the radio was disconnected. Attaches figured the music would be drowned out, anyway, by oratory.

Russia Buys West Coast Plane

Purchased by the Soviet Government for experimental flights, this giant 32-passenger flying boat is shown just before being loaded on the freighter San Pedro at San Pedro, Cal., for shipment to Le Havre, France, and then to the U. S. S. R.

"We will try to guarantee your safe exit, gentlemen," Speaker William Moseley Jones said politely to a group of senators who called on the assembly the opening day and expressed the wish that a spirit of friendliness and cooperation would exit between the two houses.

The first important item of business in both houses was the adoption of resolutions authorizing the payment of mileage—10 cents per mile for one-way distance, five cents round trip—to legislators. In the lower house, everyone voted "aye" except Assemblyman Earl Desmond and Chester F. Gannon, who live in Sacramento and receive no mileage payment. Red lights flashed opposite their names on the electric voting board, and the assembly cheered lustily.

Assemblyman Sam Heisinger believes there can be too much of anything. Illustrating a point regarding one of his bills during a corridor discussion, he told this one: On a back country ranch, where water was scarce, lived a farmer who had a fondness for an occasional spree. When the water supply became exhausted he sent his hired man—who also liked a nip—into town carrying a jug and a barrel, both empty, to bring back replenishments. The hired man returned with the barrel full of whiskey and the jug loaded with water. The rancher promptly fired him for bring back too much water.

The lawmakers, brimming over with good feeling on the opening day, indulged in a bit of horseplay in notifying the governor and the respective houses officially all hands were ready to do business.

Assemblyman Tom Maloney was making his announcement in the senate when he departed from the text to yell "hey, somebody is pinching my leg."

He moved a safer distance and delivered the remainder of the message.

Senator Ralph Swing, one of a committee appointed to notify Gov. Frank F. Merriam, reported his excellency was "pleased to hear it" and had extended a cordial invitation to remain all summer.

When the assembly committee returned from notifying the governor killed by waters no longer kept cool by green forest canopies. Deer and other game are not killed outright, but their breeding and forage ground destroyed by the attrition of repeated fires. It has been conservatively estimated that forest fires annually destroy, or cause to be destroyed, more fish and game than all the guns of all the hunters and hooks of all the anglers. The protection of a forest cover is absolutely necessary if we are to maintain the wildlife of field, forest and stream.

Serious thinking people must come to realize that it is up to each individual to exercise such care with fire that he will not, through any act of carelessness or ignorance, or through neglect of any hazard that might be the start of a fire, be guilty of the unpardonable offense of being directly or indirectly the cause of a forest fire. They must be aware of what can happen if a cigarette is carelessly tossed from an automobile or the use of tobacco in the woods not confined to places designated as safe. They must, in fact, be at all times alert to take every possible precaution with the use of fire. In this way can we "Practice conservation every day."
